Year 3 AUTUMN Key Themes: Ourselves and The Romans

Objectives in bold are the ones that should be revisited in different units, every term.

The Green Ship (POR)- Narrative	Escape from Pompeii - Non-chronological	Year 3 Grammar vocabulary:
Poetry Free Verse-reciting question and	report	Preposition, conjunction, word family, prefix, clause, subordinate clause,
performing		direct speech, consonant, consonant letter, vowel, vowel letter, inverted
Recount		commas.

Prior Learning: (Taken from Year 2 TAF)

Write simple, coherent narratives about personal experiences and those of others (real or fictional)

Write about real events, recording these simply and clearly

Demarcate most sentences in their writing with capital letters and full stops, and use marks correctly when required

Use present and past tense mostly correctly and consistently

Use co-ordination (e.g. or / and) and some subordination (e.g. when/if / that/ because) to join clauses

Segment spoken words into phonemes and represent these by graphemes, spelling many of these words correctly and making phonetically-plausible attempts at others

Spell many common exception words

Form capital letters and digits of the correct size, orientation and relationship to one another and to lower-case letters

Use spacing between words that reflect the size of the letters

Handwriting:

Beginning to use the diagonal and horizontal strokes that are needed to join letters and understands which letters, when adjacent to one another, are best left unjoined

Increases the legibility, consistency and quality of handwriting e.g. by ensuring that the down strokes of letters are parallel and equidistant; that lines of writing are spaced sufficiently so that the ascenders and descenders of letters do not touch

All children should have earnt their Bronze handwriting certificate by the end of Year 3. Once they have earnt Bronze they can use a pen for their neatest copies of work, which are produced half-termly in English.

Use past and present tense mostly correctly (e.g. ran, wander) and begin to use other verb forms (e.g. will go, have eaten)

Use the range of punctuation taught up to and including Yr3 mostly correctly (e.g. apostrophes for possession, commas in lists)

DISCUSSION

Noun phrases expanded by the addition of modifying adjectives, nouns and preposition phrases e.g. 'most people with a reasonable knowledge of the subject...', 'all dogs with a history of violence...', 'some children in the class...'

Fronted adverbials and use of commas after fronted adverbials e.g. use connecting adverbs/adverbials to present further justification of a point of view e.g. Furthermore, In addition, Also, In my opinion,

Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme e.g. consider different sides of an argument, presenting them in separate paragraphs, and decide on a course of action/personal stance, summarising reasons in a final paragraph

Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun (including synonyms) within and across sentences to aid cohesion and avoid repetition e.g. Many dog-owners argue that...they go on to state that...these animal lovers also make the point that...

DISCUSSION

In exploring persuasive texts, and those presenting a particular argument (see Progression in Persuasion), begin to recognise which present a single (biased) viewpoint and which try to be more objective and balanced

Through questioning and debate, continue to explore the expression of different views through discussion, role play and drama

Give well-structured, and extended, justification for feelings and opinions

Following discussion of a subject, plan, compose and edit a written discussion

RECOUNT

Explore general phrase/clause order in greater detail, for example: using fronted adverbials with commas or moving a subordinating clause to the beginning of a sentence e.g. Last week, a volcano erupted in Italy. Because the lava flow is still so violent, rescue teams are unable to reach the area.

Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun and synonyms within and across sentences to aid cohesion and avoid repetition e.g. Vesuvius is... This unpredictable volcano is... It generally erupts....

RECOUNT

Read examples of third person recounts such as letters, newspaper reports and diaries that recount the same event in a variety of ways, such as in the form of a story, a letter, a news report

Compare and evaluate texts that recount the same event: identify those that are more effective at engaging the reader; those that convey a specific viewpoint and those that present recounts from different perspectives

Writing Curriculum

Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme. For example, investigate how the information needed in the introductory sentence to orientate the reader (Who? What? Where? When? Etc.) can be reordered to best hook the reader's interest e.g. Yesterday morning, the Prime Minister announced that this country was at war with Germany.

Develop the final paragraph as a way of summarising the event in greater detail. For example, not simply stating the final event in the timeline, but providing an insight into the impact of the event on participants, or offering an insight into the future e.g. Without a doubt, this war will affect the lives of so many people for many years to come. Explore how direct speech is used in recount to engage the reader, and explore where the speech is used within the text. For example, as the opening line (to draw the reader in immediately) or in the conclusion to support summarising e.g. One tearful resident told us, "I have lost everything in the bombing."

Explore and manage the shift between past and present tense in recounts, for example: present tense to describe on-going events/topics/things, compared with past tense to recount the actual event e.g. Last week, London suffered ten severe bombing raids. Four thousand residents are now homeless and without basic supplies.

Write reports that seek to address the reader directly e.g. Have you ever witnessed a volcanic eruption?

Words with a 'soft c' spelt with a ce

Word families based on common words, showing how words are related in form and meaning

For verbs where stress is on final syllable, root may need last consonant doubling before adding the suffix e.g. forget forgetting,

EXPLANATION

Noun phrases expanded by the addition of modifying adjectives, nouns and preposition phrases e.g. When an animal dies, the soft part of the animal rots away. Millions of years later, the rock surrounding the skeleton rises to the Earth's surface.

Fronted adverbials - note how these are usually used to specific a time or cause e.g. Millions of years later,..., When an animal or plant dies..., Consequently,...

Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme e.g. use the first paragraph to introduce what you will be explaining. Organise following paragraphs according to the stages of the process. Conclude by addressing the reader, for example, Now that you know about fossils, why don't you go on your very own fossil hunt?

Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun within and across sentences to aid cohesion and avoid repetition e.g. investigate the use of nouns and pronouns in a text and note the use of the noun in the opening statement, followed by the pronoun, for example, In winter, hedgehogs hibernate. They make their nests under hedges. Decide on an appropriate balance between nouns and pronouns to aid clarity.

EXPLANATION

Read and analyse a range of explanatory texts, investigating and noting features of impersonal style (and noting when a personal tone is used)

Distinguish between explanatory texts, reports and recounts while recognising that an information book might contain examples of all these forms of text or a combination of these forms

Comment on, and justify views about, a range of explanatory texts

Take notes from reading or film and use these to inform writing

Plan clear steps in an explanation; ensure sentences are sequenced logically to enable the reader to understand the process

Interest the reader by addressing them directly (You'll be surprised to know that ... Have you ever thought about the way that ...?) or by relating the subject to their own experience at the end (So next time you see a pile of dead leaves in the autumn ...)

Writing Curriculum

PERSUASION

Noun phrases expanded by the addition of modifying adjectives, nouns and preposition phrases e.g. explore the use of expanded noun phrases in advertising, for example,...the beach with its mile long stretch of golden white sand...

...rich, velvety chocolate harvested from the heart of the Amazonian rainforest...

Fronted adverbials followed by commas to link persuasive points together e.g. Furthermore,...Additionally,....More importantly, ...

Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme e.g. investigate where paragraphs move from the general to the specific, for example, The hotel is very comfortable. All the beds are soft, the chairs will support your back and all rooms have thick carpets.

Consider organising paragraphs around persuasive points, and counterarguments e.g. analyse how a particular view can most convincingly be presented,

Ordering points to link them together so that one follows from another How statistics, graphs, images, visual aids, etc. can be used to support or reinforce arguments

How a closing statement repeats and reinforces the original/opening statement or viewpoint, for example, All the evidence shows that...lt's quite clear that...Now you have seen all that we offer you, there can be no doubt that we are the best.

Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun within and across sentences to aid cohesion and avoid repetition e.g. investigate how the same subject is referred to in many different ways in some persuasive texts, in order to make it sound more appealing or grand, for example, At The Mirage we will make your taste buds tingle...this 5 star restaurant is world famous...our beautiful bistro...

PERSUASION

Read and analyse a range of persuasive texts to identify key features (e.g. letters to newspapers, discussions of issues in books, such as animal welfare or environmental issues)

Distinguish between texts which try to persuade and those that simply inform, whilst recognising that some texts might contain examples of each of these

From examples of persuasive writing, investigate how style and vocabulary are used to convince the reader

Evaluate advertisements for their impact, appeal and honesty, focusing in particular on how information about the product is presented: exaggerated claims, tactics for grabbing attention, linguistic devices such as puns, jingles, alliteration, invented words

Assemble and sequence points in order to plan the presentation of a point of view, e.g. on hunting/school rules, using more formal language appropriately linking points persuasively and selecting style and vocabulary appropriate to the listener/reader Use graphs, images, visual aids to make the view more convincing

Adverbials of manner

Adverbials [e.g. Next, After that, Following this,] for example, After this, add the eggs or Add the eggs at this point.

Include introductory and concluding paragraphs around the instructional material

Adverbials of frequency and possibility

Use the conjunction 'if' to start complex sentences which give additional advice, for example, If the mixture separates, ...

Compare the clarity of the instruction when the adverbial or subordinate clause is fronted, for example, Remove the cake from the oven when it turns golden brown compared with When the cake turns golden brown, remove it from the oven

Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme e.g. write instructions that have clear sections, for example, introduction, equipment needed, procedure, additional advice, conclusion

Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun within and across sentences to aid cohesion and avoid repetition for example investigate the use of nouns and pronouns in instructional texts and support the children to realise that nouns are often repeated (rather than replaced with pronouns) to ensure greater clarity e.g.

Step 5: Take the cake from the oven.

Step 6: Ice the cake once it has cooled.

Writing Curriculum

NON-CHRONOLOGICAL REPORT

Draw attention to importance of subject verb agreements e.g. family is...., people are...

Note how writing often moves from general to more specific detail, exploring how determiners are used to indicate this shift in focus e.g. Dogs have an exceptional sense of smell. A dog can pick up a scent from a significant distance away. The Beagle has the most sensitive sense of smell.

Explore how subordination and co-ordination can help the writer move from the general to the more specific within one sentence, for example, Most beetles are black or grey, but/however some are bright red, yellow or metallic green.

Noun phrases expanded by the addition of modifying adjectives, nouns and preposition phrases e.g. continue building banks of noun phrases used to generalise and include expansion after the noun e.g. It is a long, sleek shark. > It is a long, sleek shark with spines along its back.

Fronted adverbials e.g. collect and use a range of adverbials that can be used to draw similarities, for example, Like most birds, swallows like to..., As well as honeybees,..., On the whole,...,

Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme e.g. begin to explore more subtle paragraph breaks, or paragraph breaks within headed sections of reports and consider how the author organised the information

Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun within and across sentences to aid cohesion and avoid repetition e.g. explore the need to repeat the noun in comparative reports so that the reader is able to follow the text with greater ease e.g. Just like honeybees, bumblebees like to...

NON-CHRONOLOGICAL REPORT

Analyse a number of report texts and note their function, form and typical language features recognising that they are often written in the present tense

Compare with some examples of reports written in the past tense, as in a historical report e.g. Children as young as seven worked in factories. They were poorly fed and clothed and they did dangerous work.

Develop research and note-taking techniques

Write non-chronological report using notes and plans

In reading, analyse a comparative and non-comparative reports and note the difference e.g. reports that deal with a single (albeit wideranging) topic, for example, British Birds, and those that deal with two or more topics for example, Frogs and Toads

Write own non-comparative reports, based on notes from several sources, helping the reader to understand what is being described by organising or categorising information

Write for a range or purposes and audiences with an increasing awareness of appropriate language and form (e.g. description of a school event, poetry to invoke feelings)

Create settings, character and plot in narrative

Use speech punctuation correctly most of the time

Use vocabulary and grammatical structures to communicate ideas for the given audience and purpose (e.g. use a range of sentences and begin to vary the position of clauses within a sentence)

Use a range of conjunctions, adverbs, prepositions and pronouns for cohesion, detail and clarity (e.g. appropriate noun or pronoun to avoid repetition and adverbs to express time and cause)

Use past and present tenses correctly, and include a wider range of verb forms) e.g. we were going; they have been)

Use the range of punctuation taught up to and including Year 4 mostly correctly (e.g. comas after adverbials; use of apostrophes)

Spell correctly words form learning in previous year groups, and most words form the year 3 / year 4 spelling list, and use phonics and morphology to spell words, beginning to use a dictionary to check spellings

Write legibly and with increasing fluency, paying attention to size and spacing

Maintain the use of joined handwriting throughout independent writing

Use verb prefixes e.g dis de mis over re

Apply knowledge of nouns when differentiating between homophones, choosing suffixes e.g ance / ence people said she was the greatest dancer that ever lived. vs. "I live only to dance."

Relative clauses For example, experiment with omitting the additional detail (in the form of relative clauses) from recounts and consider the effect on engaging the reader e.g. Sasha, who rose to fame as Max in Starstruck, first started acting at the tender age of five.

Explore a range of sentence types and length, and how to use these for best effect. For example, the balance of long, complicated sentence constructions within this text type, compared with shorter, simple sentence constructions, noting the need for both:

experiment with moving clauses and phrases around in the text, considering the impact on engaging the reader explore the use of short, simple sentences to summarise; orientate the reader; dramatic impact explore the use of longer, complex sentences (with multiple clauses) to convey complex information

Dashes or commas to indicate parenthesis and explore how dashes are less commonly used in more formal texts e.g. Her latest book about life in Hollywood -you've got to read it- is in the shops on Monday. vs Her latest book about life in Hollywood, which promises to be another bestseller, has just been released.

NON-CHRONOLOGICAL REPORT

Collect and use a range of adverbials to draw similarities and differences. For example, use fronted adverbials to build cohesion within and across paragraphs, e.g. Unlike other insects,.../Similarly, bumble bees.../As well as honeybees,.../On the whole,.../Conversely,...

Other cohesive devices to develop cohesion such as pronouns and synonyms to avoid repetition e.g. On the whole, honeybees are...These

Collect information to write a report in which two or more subjects are compared, e.g. spiders and beetles; solids, liquids and gases

Consider using a question in the title to interest the reader e.g. Vitamins – why are they so important?

Writing Curriculum

resourceful creatures...They... Use a range of conjunctions to link ideas e.g., When they have collected enough nectar, they return to the hive. Although honeybees are common, bumblebees are much rarer in the UK.

Indicate degrees of possibility using adverbs e.g. explore the use of adverbs and adverbials to provide generalised information (these can provide a 'getout clause' for the writer), for example, usually, commonly, mostly

Relative clauses e.g. explore how noun phrases are most commonly expanded using the pronouns 'which' and 'that' in this text type, for example, They have a long thin proboscis, which is inserted into small flowers to drink nectar. Explore the impact on clarity when these relative clauses are omitted

Brackets e.g. explore when the author chooses to parenthesise information using brackets and when the author uses a dash/comma instead and draw generalisations from this e.g. They suck nectar from flowers using their long thin mouthpiece (a proboscis).

Dashes or commas to indicate parenthesis e.g. Explore when commas are used to parenthesise relative clauses and when they are not. They have a long thin mouthpiece- a proboscis- which is inserted into small flowers to drink nectar. Compare with: They have a long thin mouthpiece, which is called a proboscis, and insert this into small flowers to drink nectar.

Write short non-chronological comparative report focusing on clarity, conciseness and impersonal style

Explore the use of a more personal style in some reports and use this in their own writing when appropriate e.g. So, next time you choose a pet, why not consider getting a dog? After all, everyone knows that a dog is man's best friend.

Indicating degrees of possibility using adverbs or modal verbs. For example, explore the use of adverbs of possibility and modal verbs in forming rhetorical questions, for example, Surely you would not want...? Can you imagine...?

Explore which modal verbs are most commonly used in persuasive writing, for example, those that express certainly and offer a promise or commitment (must, can, will) We could do this for you and we might do that vs We shall do this and you must respond.

Explore combinations of modals and adverbs to increase the effect of persuasion e.g. We should definitely consider or We must surely respond or to add a degree of politeness e.g. I wonder if you might possibly Devices to build cohesion within a paragraph and across paragraphs. For example: Build on the range of connecting adverbs/adverbials used in year 4 to present further justification of a point of view e.g. moreover, besides which, additionally, similarly.

Use a range of conjunctions to link ideas e.g. Although the hotel brochure promised luxury bedrooms, the reality was far from luxurious.

PERSUSSION

Read and evaluate letters, e.g. from newspapers or magazines, intended to inform, protest, complain, persuade, considering (i) how they are set out, and (ii) how language is used, e.g. to gain attention, respect, manipulate

Read other examples (such as newspaper comment, headlines, adverts, fliers) to compare writing which informs and persuades, considering for example the deliberate use of ambiguity, half-truth, bias; how opinion can be disguised to seem like fact

From reading, to collect and investigate use of persuasive devices such as words and phrases, e.g. persuasive noun phrases, e.g. 'not a single person...' 'every right-thinking person would...' 'the real truth is...'; rhetorical questions, e.g. 'are we expected to...?' 'where will future audiences come from...?'; pandering, condescension, concession, e.g. 'Naturally, it takes time for local residents...'; deliberate ambiguities, e.g.

'probably the best...in the world'

Writing Curriculum

Use pronouns and synonyms to avoid repetition e.g. The hotel restaurant was especially disappointing. This atrocious brasserie was probably the worst eatery I have ever encountered. I could not bring myself to eat there for a second night.

Use repetition for effect e.g. The place suffered from dreadful decor, dreadful service and, above all, dreadful food. I demand an immediate reply to my letter and I certainly demand a refund. Relative clauses For example, investigate examples of complex sentences, where information is layered up to add additional persuasive detail, and use in own writing, for example, The exquisite silk, which has been hand-stitched by expert weavers from India, glows with rainbow colours.

Experiment with removing relative clauses from example texts and consider the effect

Brackets, dashes or commas to indicate parenthesis e.g. No other restaurant —and we have tried them all- can match the cuisine of The Boathouse. The Boathouse (www.bh.com) is one of the best restaurants in the area.

Use of commas to clarify meaning or avoid ambiguity. For example, explore how much additional information can be added to a sentence, without compromising meaning and how these sentences can be used to overwhelm the reader's senses e.g. This decadent chocolate treat, flavoured with bitter-sweet cherry liquor - which is made with care in the Alps - will not only satisfy your hunger, but will no doubt wake up your taste buds, giving them a well-earned break from their usual, boring flavours.

'believed to cure all known illnesses' 'the professional's choice'

Draft and write individual, group and class persuasive extended texts for real purposes, presenting a clear point of view, commenting on emotive issues, and evaluating effectiveness

Understand how persuasive writing can be adapted for different audiences e.g. a protest aimed at an audience who are already backing your cause, compared with a speech aimed at a neutral audience where greater justification of your point of view is required

Combine persuasion with other text types e.g. instructions, discussion, explanation

Use of the semi-colon, colon and dash to mark the boundary between independent clauses e.g.:

Follow safety advice: do not use sharp knives unaided.

Take the fourth turn on the left; keep walking until you get to the end of this road.

Identify effective examples of instructions and use these to study the nature of the sentence construction used e.g. Note the use of relatively simple sentence constructions, which include a limited number of additional clauses and phrases

Take the fourth turn on the left; keep walking until you get to the end of this road.

Note where sentences could have been combined to create a more sophisticated, complex construction, but where the author has chosen a more simplistic construction to aid the reader in following the steps Practise clarifying overly complicated instructions by reducing the complexity of the sentence construction or by adding in punctuation to avoid ambiguity and add precision to meaning Consider vocabulary choices for precision and clarity

INSTRUCTIONS- Moving Beyond- Continue to develop the skills set out for year 6 in relation to more complex subjects (in terms of language and processes) and in different contexts.

EXPLANATION

Linking ideas across paragraphs using a wider range of cohesive devices: e.g. investigate how the subject noun is used repeatedly in more complex explanations to aid understanding (compare with simpler explanations where the noun is often replaced with a pronoun).

Use of passive voice to give a tone of formality and where the agent in the sentence is unimportant e.g. Dinosaur bones were discovered...First of all, the fossils are extracted from the rock...At this point, the skeleton can be reassembled...

Layout devices [for example, headings, sub-headings, columns, bullets, or tables, to structure text]

Adverbial phrases link events according to chronology and cause e.g. Once this has happened, the vapour condenses resulting in the formation of water droplets.

EXPLANATION

Read, evaluate and discuss the effectiveness of a variety of explanation texts

Consider the difference between historical explanations (e.g. Roman army tactics) and explanations using the present tense (e.g. the water cycle). Investigate when a different tense is needed

Choose the appropriate register for the audience and maintain a consistent level of formality throughout the writing

Maintain interest for the reader through various devices, structures and features, e.g. layout, direct appeal to the audience, carefully chosen vocabulary

Write well-structured introductions to engage the reader, with appropriate endings that conclude the piece clearly

Evaluate clarity, level of detail and effect of own writing

Use of the colon to introduce a list and use of semi-colons within lists of more complex information e.g.
The water cycle consists of four main stages: water turning to gas

The water cycle consists of four main stages: water turning to gas (evaporation); gas turning back into water (condensation); water falling to earth (precipitation); collection of water into groundwater storage (infiltration).

Use the semi-colon, colon and dash to mark the boundary between independent clauses e.g. Water is never destroyed or used up; the cycle is continuous.

EXPLANATION- Moving Beyond

Once students move beyond Year 6 age related expectations, it is expected that these writing skills are consolidated within more complex topics and contexts as well as being sustained over more sophisticated pieces of work.

Experiment with the form, for example write explanations of real-life situations that are in process (unfolding events in world news; a fictional project that is at a critical stage)

Explain how events led to the current situation and then speculate/ advise/ instruct on how to proceed with /manage/resolve the situation Confident use of tense, adverbials and conjunctions move the writing from the past, through the present to the future Grammar focus

Use modal verbs to recommend and assert e.g. it might be advisable...it should be relatively easy to...there may be an opportunity to...

Use embedded phrases and clauses for succinctness e.g. The final stage, to be completed by June, will involve...

Use of subjunctive e.g. If this were to happen....

NON-CHRONOLOGICAL REPORT

Linking ideas across paragraphs using a wider range of cohesive devices: [for example, the use of adverbials such as on the other hand, in contrast, or as a consequence], and ellipsis

Layout devices [for example, headings, sub-headings, columns, bullets, or tables, to structure text]

Use of the colon to introduce a list and use of semi-colons within lists e.g. Sharks come in all shapes and sizes: the spined pygmy is the smallest breed at 20 cm; the Great Whites tend to be about 4-6 m; basking are around 10 m; the whale shark is the biggest at 14 m.

Use of the passive to affect the presentation of information in a sentence e.g. explore how the passive can be used to: avoid personalisation; avoid naming the agent of a verb; add variety to sentences or to maintain an appropriate level of formality for the context and purpose of writing, for example, Sparrows are found in ... Sharks are hunted ... Gold is highly valued

Write reports as part of a presentation on a non-fiction subject or in response to fictional stimulus

Choose the appropriate style and form of writing to suit a specific purpose and audience, drawing on knowledge of different non-fiction text types

Plan how information will be organised, e.g. choosing to use paragraph headings, a spidergram or a grid, depending on the nature of the information controls elaboration and imaginative detail in prose and poetry e.g. influence of earlier events on what follows in a narrative; illuminating selection of the subject's formative early experiences in a biography takes account of multi-faceted viewpoints, acknowledges situations that do not have a simple solution and offers considered opinion in non-fiction when writing on complex topics, establishes convincing voice (for example an expert view, an authoritative stance) or appropriate register (for example sustained formal, impersonal and technical language for official writing) attempts to express complex ideas as simply and clearly as possible; uses nouns/verbs and phrases with precision uses apt figurative language to create extended imagery; creates vivid pictures in the reader's mind through inference and suggestion as well as the literal e.g. through "showing, not telling"; some imagery is sustained across the text e.g. recurring, significant motifs, references to particular elements ('the sun watched over them... the sun hid itself amongst the clouds, as though it were embarrassed by their actions... and now it was dark and the damage had been done'), sustained metaphors or recurring motifs support thematic aims in poetry develops increasingly sophisticated and mature themes that show some insight of social and cultural issues outside of own experience Sentence structure and punctuation uses a range of sentence types to create fluid blocks of text or to create textual effects, e.g. repetition to convey boredom; a series of short sentences for anger; a jarring movement between sentences to create a sense of shock manipulates tense for effect and sustains control throughout e.g. a script for a "live" news broadcast written in various tenses: 'eyewitnesses have claimed that the suspect circled the victim...reports are coming in that...the chief inspector has just confirmed that support will be drawn from neighbouring forces...'

uses full range of punctuation accurately; avoids overuse of more sophisticated marks – choices are careful and apt makes some confident and assured use of formal language, for example nominalisation (e.g. hedgehogs hibernate in winter in order to...' could be expressed as: 'hedgehogs' winter hibernation allows...') or the use of the subjunctive mood breaks conventions in order to achieve specific effects (e.g. starting a series of sentences with 'but' to suggest frustration, repetition of speech-like structures to suggest distress: 'and he, he knew it would hurt me')

modifiers are used to qualify, intensify, emphasise or generalise; for example unintentional consequences; unanimously agreed marks question tags with a comma; uses single quotation marks to denote a quote embedded in direct speech evaluates and edits for punctuation and grammar with precision

develops material so that it supports the coherent organisation of ideas into paragraphs for example chronology, moving from the general to the particular, moving from big picture description to smaller, more significant detail

uses a range of devices within and between paragraphs to achieve cohesion and employs a range of features that signpost direction of the text for the reader, e.g. topic sentences to introduce paragraphs; conjunctions/adverbials to indicate agreement or contrasts; thematic links between paragraphs and across whole texts controls organisation of the text to take account of the reader's possible reaction/questions/opinion e.g. ranking information in order of importance; greater weight given to points of interest; anticipating objections or acknowledging contentious material where appropriate, uses graphical features to guide the reader through a text e.g. headings/subheadings, underlining, hyperlinks, diagrams experiments with more advanced poetic devices for effect e.g. begins to use enjambment (an idea, phrase or clause that does not come to an end at the end of the line, but continues on the next) to manage the flow/rhythm of ideas

Linking ideas across paragraphs using a wider range of cohesive devices: For example, collect examples of counter argument statements and practice writing their own e.g. Although there are many who would argue that..., there are a growing number of critics who think that...

Explore combinations of modal verbs and adverbs of possibility as outlined in Year 5

Use of the passive to increase the level of formality by establishing an authoritative and/or impersonal tone e.g. explore how the passive can be used to gain support of an audience without dictating who should be responsible for making that action happen, therefore making the action seem less daunting, for example, 'the invaders must be stopped'

Consider how the alternative version (in the active voice) might not be so effective in harnessing the support of the audience, for example, 'we (or 'you') must stop the invaders'

PERSUASION

Through reading and analysis, recognise how persuasive arguments are constructed to be effective through, for example: the expression, sequence and linking of points providing persuasive examples, illustration and evidence pre-empting or answering potential objections appealing to the known views and feelings of the audience

Orally and in writing, construct effective persuasive arguments: using persuasive language techniques to deliberately influence the listener. developing a point logically and effectively supporting and illustrating points persuasively anticipating possible objections harnessing the known views, interests and feelings of the audience tailoring the writing to formal presentation where appropriate

In oral and written texts choose the appropriate style and form to suit a specific purpose and audience, drawing on knowledge of different non-fiction text types and adapting, conflating and combining these where appropriate

The difference between structures typical of informal speech and structures appropriate for formal speech and writing [for example, the use of question tags or the use of subjunctive forms e.g. If I were prime minister, I would...

Layout devices [for example, headings, sub-headings, columns, bullets, or tables, to structure text]

Consistent punctuation of bullet points to list information

PERSUASION- Moving Beyond

Once students move beyond Year 6 age related expectations, it is expected that these writing skills are consolidated within more complex topics and contexts as well as being sustained over more sophisticated pieces of work.

Through reading and analysis of persuasive texts across a range of contexts, recognise how style and register may vary according to environment and audience

Identify how persuasive devices and arguments are linked within and across paragraphs, taking careful note of how ideas are developed through reference chains e.g. the rainforest...this dwindling biome...the impact of its loss is incalculable

Vary and manage paragraphs in a way that support whole structure of the text e.g. single sentence paragraphs to secure an argument, movement of focus from the general to the specific

Orally and in writing, construct effective persuasive arguments:

using a wide range of persuasive language techniques and modes of presentation to deliberately influence the listener e.g. counter argument, rhetorical techniques, for example, emotive words (starving children, destitute victims) alliteration (pressing problem) repetition/power of three (this is destroying habitats; this is destroying food chains; this is destroying lives) personal pronouns for direct address/assuming a shared view (we, you)

building up points for emphasis illustrating with carefully chosen, relevant examples pre-empting possible objections and take account of conflicting agendas through compromise, precautionary measures, checks and balances e.g. Pupils will not be allowed to enter the vicinity of the pool unless accompanied by an adult sparing, effective use of exaggeration, emotive language, flattery and plausible statistics subject-specific technical vocabulary to enhance credibility

Oral presentations take full account of the audience

Voice and gesture is used for emphasis and to sustain interest throughout

Suggested grammar focus:

Writing Curriculum

Use of a range of verb forms e.g.:

conditionals to establish a polite tone, for example, We were wondering if we could...

modal verbs to convey likelihood/degree of certainty, for example, immediate action must be taken..., this could be the single greatest opportunity...

the passive voice to establish an authoritative and/or impersonal tone, for example, this issue has been left unresolved for too long..., the benefits have been thoroughly established...

 $the \ subjunctive \ mood \ to \ further \ demonstrate \ formality, \ for \ example, \ if \ we \ were \ to \ take \ collective \ responsibility...$

Use of these forms should not impact upon clarity. Good writing will depend on selective use that supports the overall intention of the text.

DISCUSSION

Linking ideas across paragraphs using a wider range of cohesive devices: For example, build and use a range of connecting adverbs to move between opposing views, e.g. on the other hand, in contrast, alternatively, conversely, on the contrary, in opposition.

Layout devices [for example, headings, sub-headings, columns, bullets, or tables, to structure text] e.g. end with a summary paragraph, using consistently punctuated bullet points to present recommendations

Use of the semi-colon, colon and dash to mark the boundary between independent clauses. For example, use colons to:

Introduce questions for discussion e.g. *The pressing issue now is this: what should happen to....?*Introduce a quotation to support a viewpoint e.g. Supporters of this view often refer to the well-known proverb: 'Treat others as you would wish to be treated'.

To prepare the reader for a revelation of the author's opinion in the final paragraph e.g. The final conclusion is

DISCUSSION

Through reading, recognise and understand the distinction between the persuasive presentation of a particular view and the discursive presentation of a balanced argument

Discuss and debate a controversial issue and then write a balanced report: summarising fairly the competing views analysing strengths and weaknesses of different positions drawing reasoned conclusions where appropriate using formal language and presentation as appropriate

Experiment with setting out opposing views in separate paragraphs or as alternate points within a paragraph and consider impact

Choose the appropriate style and form to suit a specific purpose and audience, drawing on knowledge of different non-fictional text types and adapting, conflating and combining these where appropriate. Sometimes diagrams, illustrations, moving images and sound may be used to provide additional information or give evidence therefore clear in my mind: animal testing must be banned immediately.

DISCUSSION- Moving Beyond
Once students move beyond Year 6 age related expectations, it is expected that these writing skills are consolidated within more complex topics and contexts as well as being sustained over more sophisticated pieces of work.
Independently select a controversial or concerted issue of particular interest:
Set out competing views clearly; may use some limited quotation
Using technical and formal language and presentation as appropriate Choose between setting out opposing views in separate paragraphs or as alternate points within a paragraph e.g. argument for, followed by argument against, and consider impact Make links throughout that guide the reader through the topic, providing clarification and explanation (in parenthesis and otherwise) when complexity demands it Offer a well-developed and convincing conclusion; provide justifications that draw from the text; summarise deciding factors accurately and succinctly whilst avoiding unnecessary repetition
Suggested Grammar Focus:
Develop confidence and versatility in using a variety of verb forms, including different tenses, modals and impersonal structures, to support the analysis of points, for example to contrast between current and future use e.g. Youths roaming wild can be a nuisance; once this rule has been introduced parents will have to control them.
Use of the subjunctive mood to establish formality and an authoritative stance e.g. If we were to believe everything we read about young people, Opponents suggest that this be done without delay.
Pupils should be asked to consider whether this is the most effective way of expressing their ideas in terms of clarity and flow. Evaluating such choices reinforces work round audience and purpose.
